1. Introduction

The European Volleyball Confederation is pleased to open the registration procedure for the CEV EuroVolley 2023.

The exact competition dates for the CEV EuroVolley 2023 will be announced in due time.

Next to the teams representing the National Federations that are co-hosting the CEV EuroVolley 2023 (4 NF's per gender), the top eight women's and men's teams from the CEV EuroVolley 2021 final standing are automatically qualified to the CEV EuroVolley 2023.

If any of the four co-host countries are among the top eight from the 2021 edition, the next best team(s) from the final standing will qualify for the CEV EuroVolley 2023 as well, thus bypassing the qualification round. Co-hosting countries to be announced after the CEV Board of Administration meeting on December 18, 2021.

All other National Federations will compete in one qualification round scheduled for the late summer of 2022 to book their places in the CEV EuroVolley 2023 that will feature 24 teams in total per gender.

It remains the sole responsibility of the NFs to respect all Communications, Regulations, Guidelines and institutional decisions to guarantee the delivery of correct, accurate and complete data at any time that these are required.

CEV EuroVolley 2023

Official Communications No. 3

Released on: 25/07/2022

#EuroVolleyM

1. Update on EuroVolley 2023 Men host countries and EuroVolley 2023 qualifiers 3

1. Update on EuroVolley 2023 Men host countries and EuroVolley 2023 qualifiers

Due to the current situation, the CEV Board of Administration decided through a resolution by circulation adopted this past week to move the CEV EuroVolley 2023 Men preliminary pool originally due to take place in Ukraine to Israel. Therefore, Israel joins Italy, Bulgaria and North Macedonia to compose the CEV EuroVolley 2023 Men four host countries.

This implies that the men's national team of Israel will not contest the upcoming EuroVolley qualifiers. As hosts, Team Israel qualify directly for the EuroVolley 2023 Final Round – with Belgium, Estonia and the Faroe Islands the three teams left to compete in Pool C of the EuroVolley qualifiers.

Moreover, since Ukraine are no longer able to co-host the event under the current circumstances and their team is not contesting the upcoming EuroVolley qualifiers, they still keep their initially granted spot in the EuroVolley Final Round.

Further to this, the CEV Board of Administration will make a final decision by September 15 on the eligibility of the Russian national teams to compete at CEV EuroVolley 2023 Men.

Should the CEV Board of Administration confirm their eligibility, the seven pool winners plus the 4 (FOUR) runners-up with the best result across all pools will make it to the EuroVolley Final Round from the upcoming qualifiers.

On the other hand, should the CEV Board of Administration declare Russia ineligible to compete at next year's EuroVolley Men, the seven pool winners plus the 5 (FIVE) runners-up with the best score across all pools will progress to the EuroVolley Final Round, as previously announced through the Official Communication no. 2 (Art. 2).

With Russia already qualified for the 2023 edition as per the final standing of the 2021 tournament, should the CEV Board of Administration declare Russia ineligible to compete at EuroVolley 2023 Women, the third-placed team with the best result across all pools will qualify for EuroVolley 2023 Women next to the six pool winners and six runners-up.
